Flarium Ltd. Releases Screen Calendar 7.4

” Flarium Ltd. has released the new version 7.4 of Screen Calendar that supports data exchange with iCalendar files so you can add events to your desktop calendar importing them from iCal files. Screen Calendar 7.4 – desktop calendar and PIM in one program.

Vancouver, Canada – November 21, 2007 – Flarium has released version 7.4 of Screen Calendar, a Windows 98/Me/NT/2k/XP/Vista utility for putting PIM like calendar just on desktop wallpapers. Beginning with this version, Screen Calendar supports data exchange with iCalendar files so you can add events to your desktop calendar importing them from iCal files.

Screen Calendar software creates desktop wallpaper with built in interactive calendar. The calendar is fully-customizable – you can adjust its every option: size, transparency, color, font, arrangement etc. Screen Calendar serves as a full-functional PIM as well – you can schedule your day hourly, add records (even with attached files if needed), set reminder for important events. Scheduling becomes easy with Screen Calendar. Double-click a date cell of a calendar to schedule your day, just move mouse cursor to a date cell to read records.

Screen Calendar 7.4 has a function of iCalendar format support. That enables you to add events to a desktop calendar simply importing them from iCalendar files (.ics files). Screen Calendar allows importing events from both local files and remote sources. Also, you can export records from a desktop calendar to iCal file.

Besides, Screen Calendar can manage your desktop wallpapers and icons. Your notes can be printed with or without background directly from Screen Calendar.
